Mercialys wins an IPD European Property Investment Award for outstanding investment performance

During the IPD European Property Investment Awards ceremony, Mercialys has won an award in recognition of investment outperformance against its peer group.

The Award was presented to Mercialys for having the highest total return relative to the appropriate sector benchmark three years annualised to December 2008 for the specialist fund category in France¹.

The coveted Awards were presented by IPD Managing Director Laurent Ternisien at the Gala Dinner at IPD European Property Investment Conference 2009 held on Thursday, June 4th in Barcelona.

The Awards identify demonstrated and consistently measured real estate investment performance over the past three years across 11 European countries (Austria, France, Germany, Ireland, Italy, Netherlands, Norway, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland and the UK). The 18 Awards presented were split into two categories: 10 awards were presented for the category “Balanced funds” and 8 awards in the category “Specialist funds”.

Winning an award is testament to the quality of Mercialys investment strategy and of its risk management policy during the past three years from 2006 to 2008.

“We are very happy to have won an Award during the IPD European Property Investment Awards ceremony.

This prize rewards our value creation strategy implemented since the IPO in October 2005. Thanks to the continuous focus of our teams on extracting value of our portfolio of leases, our win-win partnership with Casino, and a selective investment policy focused on assets presenting a high potential of value creation in the short or medium term, we have proved our ability to create value on a continuous basis for the benefit of our shareholders.

This recognition of our know-how is particularly important in the present context since Mercialys has significantly improved its liquidity by increasing its free float to approximately 1 billion euros “, said Jacques Ehrmann, CEO of Mercialys.

About IPD:

The Awards – determined by IPD using standardised data held in its extensive databases – recognise independently verified investment performance by pension and life funds, property investment companies and other professionally managed real estate portfolios across Europe.

¹ A specialist fund is portfolio of predominantly direct interests in real estate concentrated to at least 70% of its capital employed in a single main sector of the relevant national market.

IPD (Investment Property Databank) is a global information business created in 1985, dedicated to the supply of independent market indices, benchmarks, performance analysis and events, and training to the real estate industry. Operating on five continents, IPD has established services in more than 20 countries in Europe, USA, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, and Japan: www.ipd.com.

IPD has set up analysis standards for the measurement of real estate performance.

Those analysis provide a full range of real estate indicators including analysis of the different real estate market segments performance, analysis of investment portfolio revenues and analysis of transactions impact.
